About me

After studying law at the University of Basel, I was admitted to the bar and later specialised further in the field of tax law by obtaining a post-graduate Master's degree in Tax Law. In my professional experience I have taken on positions of responsibility as manager and deputy manager in leading national and international tax and legal advisory firms and have contributed to the opening and start-up of the Ticino branch of a major Zurich law firm. My fields of activity range from providing tax and legal advice to individuals (with particular reference to international cross-border issues), to advising companies, both in relation to tax matters and to specific legal issues such as, among others, contract law, labour and social insurance law and inheritance law.

Areas of activity

- National and international tax consultancy
- HR legal advice (labour law, contract law, social insurance)
- Negotiation of tax agreements (tax rulings) for natural and legal persons
- Consultancy in corporate reorganisations/restructuring (M&A)
