About me

After studying business administration, I obtained my federal diploma as a tax expert in Zurich. Since 2012, I have been a partner and director of Fiduciaria Mega in Lugano. Previously, I worked in the tax departments of EY and PwC. During my professional career, I have managed numerous corporate reorganisation projects. I also have extensive experience in corporate transfer processes. I have been following the world of blockchain and cryptocurrencies with interest for several years. My passion for sport led me to personally follow the joining of Sportlifeone, a company that provides tailor-made services to elite sportspeople during and after their professional careers.
